

Electra (Elettra)

Authors: Brian Freschi & Elena Triolo

Year of Publication: 2021

Pages: 176

Age group: 9+

Genre: Book-length comic

Publisher and country of origin: Editrice Il Castoro, Italy

Original language: Italian

About: Electra loves reading and just isn't the sporting type. Her mother says joining a sports club will help Electra make friends at her new school, so she reluctantly tries her hand at volleyball, tennis, archery, swimming...but it's no use, she's hopeless at all of them. Meanwhile, though, she has seen her cousin dancing and her classmate playing the guitar, and she's desperate to try both. Mum isn't keen, but Electra is determined not to be defeated this time!

A delightfully illustrated fun, approachable and universally applicable story about trusting your instincts and daring to be yourself.

A full English working translation of this text (set with the graphics) is available; interested publishers can get in touch with Andreina Speciale, rights manager at Il Castoro for further information: Speciale@editriceilcastoro.it

Anna Barton holds an MA in Literary Translation from UEA (Norwich) and is a freelance translator from Czech, French and Italian, currently based in Prague.